

ORANGE SHOW BRINGS OUT CLASSY EXHIBITS

Finest Bunch of Horses Seen in Virginia in Many Years—Brilliant Performances in Jumping Classes—No Kicks Against Decisions.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Orange, Va., August 3.—The first day of the thirteenth annual exhibition of the Orange Horse show brought out a crowd of about 2,500 people on a beautiful day. The feature of the show was the brilliant performances made in the jumping classes. It was an exception when even a rap was scored against the jumpers. This made hard work for the judges, and they were jumped off in the green hunter, light weight hunter and combined classes. However, there was no kicking against decisions, except in the green hunter class, after which W. W. Osborne was somewhat disgruntled, but became well pleased when his Galatea took the blue in the following class for Orange county hunter.

The most experienced in horse shows said without hesitation that the show had brought out the classiest bunch of horses shown in the State for years. For instance, in the combined class, David Gray and Keswick, belonging to E. H. Weatherbee, of New York, lately back from their victories at London, Sunway Morning and Sansatout, of U. D. Benner, of Warrenton, and Mrs. Allen Potts's Willow King, tied for first place.

The judges put them around twice before they were satisfied with Sunday Morning as the horse deserving the blue. Keswick came second, Willow King third, and Sansatout fourth, while David Gray took the gate to the surprise of the grandstand. The performance of Mr. Benner's mount was absolutely perfect.

In the harness classes, Miss Amy Dupont, of Wilmington, took the honors with her hackneys. There was not a fall in the show, and the really bad performances of the day would be counted on one hand. In the handi-cap class, Aristocrat, of the Blenheim Stock Farm, closed the show with a clean jump over five feet two inches. After lunch the mule race was won by Master George Shackelford, the others mostly balking at the exit.

Among the prominent persons in judges' stand, besides the exhibitors, were Francis Ware, of New York, formerly manager of the Horse Exchange; Thomas Atkinson, of New York; G. Leigh, Jr., of Richmond; James B. McComb, John McComb and Harry Beatty assisted in the judging. A much larger crowd is expected tomorrow.

Some Baseball Talk

By HALF NELSON.

The smiling Dutchman, with every emblem of the goddess of luck hung, swung, and otherwise attached to his shoulders, came back yesterday, and the Colts pulled down a game. From skeleton reports the game must have been one of those contests where opportunities come and go unnoticed, and things happen when the luck turns. Both teams made four errors, but evidently Richmond's errors broke right, and those of the Hill Climbers broke exactly when they should have been in tact.

Also Danville will be the guest of honor this afternoon, and the fans can see at first hand why the Bugs decorate the top of the pole. Griffin believes he has a team that can stay at the top nowadays, and past performances uphold his contention. The Bugs are playing ball, and the Colts have got to get up and jump to take the majority of the games.

The Petersburg team is gaining favor every day with the fans of the upstate City, and, if the statement of an ardent fan in this city yesterday can be depended on, the fans only hope for a place in the first division. A matter of fifty points in the percentage column will put Petersburg well up in the first division. Having played a series with Danville, the Petersburgers may hope for better results beginning with to-day.

There must be something wrong with the week. Something radically wrong. There hasn't been a real sure enough kick against the umpires for three games. Such a condition of affairs is to be feared, and it indicates a slumbering feeling of revolt that may break out at any moment. The dereliction will have to be remedied this afternoon.

There is a possibility of a new pitcher arriving this afternoon, but he hasn't come yet. And the Colts need a new pitcher about as badly as a one-legged man needs a crutch. The week's performances by the regulars has not been of the class to bring big league scouts to Richmond, and a new face in the box would be preferable. The names of the pitcher has not been announced as yet, because it is not definitely known that he is coming. Jack Lawlor is in communication, however, and promises that something shall drop soon in the way of new players.

The infusion of new blood into the team is a good thing, as is shown by the coming of Dobson and Bunting. The youngsters, having a name to make in the baseball world, are working hard, and their snappy work makes the team look good from the grandstand.

Speaking of snappy work, why doesn't Jack Lawlor make his team get into the field and come from the field as if there was a whole lot of life in them. This thing of loosing positions and loosing back doesn't look good at all, and the fans lose their enthusiasm before the team takes up positions. The expenditure of energy is not much, and the added value of the team, from the spectators' standpoint, would far more than make up for the energy expended.

Three Straight for Hornets.
Charlotte, N. C., August 3.—Charlotte made it three straight this afternoon from Winston-Salem, winning the last game 3 to 1. Catcher Taxis was hurt in the fourth inning, and Manager Cross changed the entire battery, sending in Brazille and Hargrave. The timely batting of Hargrave was the feature.

Manager McKevitt protested the game on the ground that a suspended player cannot take part in a game within twelve days after his suspension. Brazille being suspended at Spartanburg last week and later being reinstated.

JOE GANS NEARS END.

Fears That He Will Not Reach Home Before He Dies.
La Junta, Col., August 3.—Joe Gans, former lightweight champion rushing across the continent in an effort to reach his home in Baltimore, which is dying before he dies, has given up hope of reaching home alive. Gans is mother of consumption.

"I'm going fast," he said to friends who saw him when the Santa Fe train, on which he is traveling, passed through here to-day.

"I won't take any chance by stopping here," he said.

The trip over the Raton Mountains affected the former champion, and restoratives had to be given him repeatedly in order to prevent total collapse.

EDDIE LEONARD WILL TELL WHAT STRUCK JEFFRIES

Manchester Humorist's Wife Was Guest of Mrs. Tex Rickard at Great Mill at Reno on July 4, When Jack Johnson Won Championship Belt.

Eddie Leonard, who sits opposite Honey Boy Evans in the Big Mafestel Show, and whacks up the caustic humor, will be in this very identical city no later than to-day. And not only that, but Eddie is going to give out a bunch of real dope as to the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Oh, no, no; Eddie is on his holiday now, and is not trying to make any body in the world laugh. Humorists are not funny when they are on their holidays. Holidays are serious matters, and they don't care to be humorous when they are hitting the pastures green in search of recreation. Eddie is going to tell something just as it happened.

Everybody knows Eddie. That is, everybody in Richmond and Manchester, that was. Especially in Manchester. For no other reason than that Eddie first saw the light of day in that historic hamlet, and threw rocks at every "cullud" child in that vicinity. He swam in the Noble Jeems and culled blackberries beneath the shade of the grand old oaks of Forest Hill.

Since that time, Eddie has hit the high places, and made every time he landed he made good. He has made people laugh in every town that has a string of footlights, and has made them laugh because he handed out a line of laughable goods and handed the line out free.

With the big Edward will come his wife, who was one of the guests of

SPIRITED RACES AT TASLEY FAIR

All Heats Closely Contested. Zimmerman Wins in Exciting Finish.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Tasley, Va., August 3.—The racing at the Tasley Fair this afternoon was closely contested in all heats. Dewey Bell, formerly owned in Baltimore, performed creditably, pacing a very consistent race, and is sure to be another standard performer, his dam, Antee Belle, already having four performers. Silver Cup, by the noted stallion Jack Brerton, of the Eastern Shore of Virginia, owned by Earl A. Bloom, of Onley, was the favorite in the 2:30 class and won in three straight heats with ease. E. G. Fox, of Onley, Va., is the owner of the noted stallion.

The third heat of the 2:15 class was the most exciting and spirited race of the day, the three horses keeping together until the homestretch, when Zimmerman led out and went under the wire with a good margin. The six entries of the 2:30 class were Eastern Shore of Virginia and Maryland horses. Five thousand people viewed the fair to-day.
